

JAMIE LIN WILSON JUST LIKE HEARTACHE

Water so deep I've been sinking for years now
There's more to it than tears now
And I'm going down
I'm hung up on a rail and you're swimming for shore, babe
I should have seen it before, babe
But I'm gonna drown

Oh ain't it just like heartache
To be something that you can't shake
With just any old lover
Oh, I don't want to be lonely
Do you think that you can hold me
Until the worst is over
Come a rumble and a roar it kinda sounded like a train, babe
Your picture rattled in the frame, babe
The ground was moving down below me
And I reached out for your hand but you were headed for the door, dear
You left me lying on the floor there
Pretending like you didn't know me

Oh ain't it just like heartache
To be something that you can't shake
With just any old lover
Oh, I don't want to be lonely
Do you think that you can hold me
Until the worst is over

Smoke so thick I can hardly see you
Could it really be you by my side
I'm standing still, they're running around me
Good thing that you found me
You know, I might have died

Oh ain't it just like heartache
To be something that you can't shake
With just any old lover

Oh, I don't want to be lonely
Do you think that you can hold me
Until the worst is over

Oh, I don't want to be lonely
Do you think that you can hold me
Until the worst is over
